

Toy Boy

So there's this young man, he's handsome, he's virile and he's looking for love
So he has a choice – find a girl, full of fun, hot and fresh Or maybe find a woman, who knows what she wants and who knows how she wants it
But the question is : does he really want to be a Toy Boy?

So what is this young man going to do, which way is he going to turn?

Of course in the end does it matter what name you put on it, does it matter what people say?
It's only important how you feel

I can be your Toy Boy, you can give me more joy, rolling on the floor, screaming out for more, and I know I'm going to take the time and work you to the core, put you up against the hall door, taking you on all fours

I can be your Toy Boy, you can give me more joy, rolling on the floor, screaming out
for more, and I know I'm going to take the time and work you to the core, put you up
against the hall door, taking you on all fours